

Broadlake

Broadlake was the farmhouse at what is now the entrance to the housing estate which took its name. It was pulled down in about 1978, the developer taking swift action before local opposition to its removal could be properly organised.