

Remembrance Day Parades

Remembrance Day in Willaston has been marked for many years by a parade through the village and outdoor service. The parade left the Royal British Legion building (later Willaston Services Club) in Hooton Road and walked to Christ Church for the service.

These photos show the parade in the 1980s. It is also interesting to note the shops and banks in the background. (Photos: Peter Williams)

Midland and Barclays Bank

Jackson's Grocery Shop

Kaye's Pharmacy

Wreath being laid
by Kate Williams

